Going up and Coming Down.

This is a simple song, 'tis true,
And songs like this are never nice
And yet we'll try and scatter through
A pinch or two of good advice.
Then listen pompous friend, and learn
Never to boast of much renown;
For fortune's wheel is on the turn,
And some go up, and some come down

We know a vast amount of stock
A vast amount of pride insures·
But fate has picked so many locks,
We wouldn't like to warrant yours.
Remember, then and never spurn
The one whose hand is hard and brown,
For he is likely to go up,
And you are likely to come down.

The other thing you will agree,
(The truth may be as well confessed),
The "foolish aristocracy"
Is but a scaly thing at best.
And though the fishes large and strong
May seek the little ones to drown.
Yet fishes all, both great and small,
Are going up and coming down.

Our lives are full of chance and change,
And change, you know, is never sure;
And 'twere a doctrine new and strange,
That places high are most secure
And though the fickle god may smile,
And wield the sceptre and the crown,
'Tis only for a little while—
Then B. goes up and A. comes down.

The world for you and me, my friend,
Hath something more than pounds and pence,
Then let me humbly recommend
A little use of common sense.
Thus lay all pride of place aside,
And have a care on whom you frown:
For fear you'll see him going up,
When you are only coming down.

SPEECH OF
MR. MORTON.

This society of the Ku Klux is the result of a general purpose, of a matured plan for the subjugation of the South by a party that is in hostility to the Government of the United States, by the party which organized and conducted the rebellion. It proposes to gain the supremacy by driving Republicans into submission and silence, or by compelling them to fly from the State. It electioneers by murder, and persuades men by the lash and destruction of their property. It seeks to waste the courage of men and their devotion to principle by causing them to go to bed at night with a dread that they may be murdered and their houses destroyed by fire before morning. It works by means that sap the mental as well as the physical strength of men and lead them to sacrifice their principles and their feelings to purchase security for themselves and their families. It leaves no room for neutrality. All must take their stand upon the one side or the other—absolute submission upon the one hand, or total insecurity for life and property upon the other.

But as a party policy it is short-sighted and wickedly foolish. Victory purchased by blood cannot be permanent or glorious. The spots which it makes upon the escutcheon of the party can never be washed out, but will deepen and redden from generation to generation. The blood which is spilled cries from the ground, and in a few years the avenger will come and punishment will fall suddenly and terribly upon the criminals.

The mantle of the Democratic party is broad, but it is full of rents, and is not broad enough to cover these crimes from the world.

The Democratic party may say that it has not committed these crimes; but the judgment of mankind will be that it has held the garments of those who did; that it has stood by in approving silence; that it has uttered no word of condemnation; that it has raised no hand to bring the guilty to punishment; and while it may not have been the actual perpetrator of the deed, yet it has received the political profits that result from its perpetration.

The Democratic party can relieve itself from these terrible imputations by denouncing the crimes, by admitting their existence, by uniting with others for their suppression, by showing a willingness to use all the means that may be within their power to protect life, liberty, property; but failing to do these things, it will be held responsible by the verdict of history.

The subject is painful to me, and I would to God that I had never had occasion to mention it in this Chamber. It affords me no pleasure to publish to the world the crimes and misdoings of the people in any part of my country. I would, if it were possible, if it were consistent with truth and justice, bury them in oblivion. But I cannot do that. That is beyond my power, or the power of the Democratic party. The best remedy for these evils is their full and complete exposure, that they may be known, understood, and execrated by all men so that a public opinion may be created which shall have power for their ultimate suppression. To remain silent from any cause is to approve of these crimes, is to encourage their continuance, is to give to their perpetrators security and impunity. We cannot remain silent without becoming participants, without implicating ourselves in the deed.

It is not quite a year ago that I endeavored, in a speech on the Georgia question, to lay before the Senate and the country the condition of the South as I then understood it. I was not able to tell a hundredth part of the truth. What I knew was bad enough. But I was met with stern incredulity upon this floor, and even in portions of the Republican press. Those Republicans who then doubted doubt no more. Those voices that were then lifted up on the Republican side of this Chamber to rebuke me are now silent. The terrible truth has forced itself upon the knowledge of all men, and the duty now rests upon all men to rise up and bear witness against it.

The perststent declarations of northern politicians that the reconstruction acts are unconstitutional and void, that the people of the State have a right to resist them, and that the Government of the United States has wickedly oppressed these people and wantonly inflicted upon them disabilities and degradation have largely conduced to their present unhappy condition. The southern mind, irritated by defeat, accepted these declarations as evidence of sympathy and of the justness of their cause, and the crimes and outrages that have been committed are in great part the natural and inevitable result. Had these politicians advised the people of the South to accept the situation and accommodate themselves to the result, who can doubt that peace, good will, and prosperity would have been restored?

To the motives of the leaders of the Democratic party I impute nothing. I have no right to sit in judgment upon them. God alone is the searcher of hearts. From their standpoint they doubtless believe they are doing right. But of the consequences of their action I have a right to speak, and I declare to them solemnly that as their course before the war had much to do in bringing on the rebellion their policy now largely contributes to foment and produce the disastrous condition of things in the South.

When the war ended many men who had been in the Union Army remained in the South, intending to make it their home and identify themselves with its fortunes. Others emigrated from the North, taking with them large capital, believing that the South presented fine prospects for business, individual success, and general prosperity. In the reconstruction of the southern States it so happened, and was, in fact, necessary, that many of these men should be elected to office and take a leading part in the government of the States in which they settled. This was their right and the natural result of the circumstances by which they were surrounded; but they were denounced as adventurers and intruders, and the odious slang of "carpet baggers" was re-echoed by the Democracy of the North, who sent word to the South that these men had no rights they were bound to respect.

Emigration is a part of the genius of the American people. They are composed of those who came from abroad or their descendants. To emigrate from State to State, and there to enjoy all the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States, is guarantied by the Constitution, and it is an odious and anti-American doctrine that a man has no right to be elected to an office in a State because he was not born in it, or has not lived in it many years. When we consider the circumstances under which the Territories were settled and new States formed, the rapid transition of our population from one part of the country to another, we shall comprehend the infamy and villainy of this slang against "carpet baggers."

Why, sir, it is the same spirit in another form which a few years ago attempted to deny equal political rights to men of foreign birth and insisted that the offices should be held only by those who were born upon the soil; and it is humiliating that any portion of the people of the North should endeavor to excite the people of the South against their own citizens who have gone there to find homes. What the South needs is emigrants with carpet bags well filled with capital to revive industry, organize labor, and develop her resources; and the howl against this class of citizens is insane and suicidal.

Those who were born in the South and remained faithful to the Government, or have since joined the Republican party, are stigmatized as the "scallawags," as low persons of the baser sort, disgraced and degraded by every opprobrious epithet, and all of this execrable Billingsgate is re-echoed, with additions, in the North. The mass of the people in the South are honest, humane, and kindly feeling, like those of any other section of the country, and do wrong chiefly where they think they are doing right. But, for political purposes, their passions are artfully stimulated, their prejudices against negroes excited to madness, and skillful operators constantly reopen and aggravate the wounds and hatreds of the war. They were nurtured in the right of secession, and carefully educated to hate the Republican party as their natural enemies, and are now manipulated and operated upon by the most unscrupulous political organization that ever existed.

Will the people of the South never learn that for thirty years the Democratic party has been their most deadly weapon? But for its baneful influence they would never have embarked in the rebellion. They were encouraged in the belief that the right was upon their side, that the Democracy of the North were their friends and allies and would never permit them to be coerced to remain in the Union, and after the war had lasted two years they were urged to protract the struggle by holding out to them the prospect that a revolution was going on in the sentiment of the North that would soon acknowledge their independence. They clung to these fatal delusions until they were overwhelmed by defeat. Their allies deserted them at the critical moment, the revolution in the North never came, their prospects faded like an evening cloud, and the sun of the confederacy went down in blood.

The Democratic party can only come into power by carrying all the southern States, in which case the southern Democracy will constitute the majority of the party, and will be the controlling element. The southern Democracy would refuse to vote taxes and appropriations for pensions, except upon condition that confederate soldiers and their widows and orphans should be pensioned, and put upon equal terms with those of the soldiers of the Union. The Southern Democracy would never vote taxes and appropriations to pay the national debt unless they were paid for their slaves. The northern Democracy, who are committed by endless resolutions and years of declamation to the position that slavery was wrongfully and unconstitutionally abolished, would sustain them. It would be easier to assume the payment for slaves than to repudiate the national debt, for the reason that the payment must come principally from the North, and getting clear of the debt would do them but a small part of the good that payment for their slaves would.

It is improbable to suppose that the southern Democracy when placed in power would voluntarily tax themselves to pay the debt which had been created for their subjugation, while all that they had invested in the confederate debt was lost together with their slaves. And that they will in that case make the payment for their slaves a condition upon which the national debt shall be paid no one can doubt. It may be said, however, that the Democratic party in the North would never consent to this. My answer is that they will consent when they find that they can hold power on no other terms; and it would only be consenting to the practical application of what they have advocated all the time. If they were in earnest when they declared that slavery was abolished without authority of law and without any public necessity, and that it was most unjust toward the owners of slaves, how can they refuse to make the nation pay for these slaves when they are placed in power?

The southern question will be the great issue in 1872 that will dwarf into insignificance every other. No merely economical question can divide public attention with it. Shall reconstruction be maintained; shall the constitutional amendments be upheld; shall the colored people be protected in the enjoyment of equal rights; shall the Republicans of the southern States be protected in life, liberty, and property? are the great issues to be settled in 1872. Questions of tariff, currency, civil service reform, will play some part, but it will be a subordinate one. In all the southern States the Republicans will struggle for life, for the privilege of living in peace and security while the Democratic party will struggle to regain their former power, and, as experience has shown, will not hesitate as to the means that may be used for that purpose. And in view of the solemn fact that everything is at stake for which we struggled and suffered through ten years of war and storm, let us bury all personal grievances, and forgetting past differences, banishing all selfish consideration, unite again as a band of brothers, and with unbroken front move forward resolved to conquer for the right.

A Happy Daddy.

The following letter from an eccentric father refers to an event not uncommon in matrimonial life. By abrupt changes of theme the writer succeeds in unwittingly attributing the most remarkable qualities to the innocent darling of which he is so proud to be called the parent:

Dear Sister:—I now take my seat and sit down to take this opportunity to inform you that I am a daddy at last; that is, I suppose I am, for Abbie has got a nice, fat baby, and we hope these few lines will find you enjoying the same great blessing. Now this is to be strictly a business letter.—Firstly, as I said before, Abbie has got as nice a baby as ever made up faces. Nextly, I have swapped away old Buckskin, and think I have got a pretty nice horse, it is a girl and weighs nine pounds, (I mean the baby,) and is just as fat as butter, and has got a good strong pair of lungs. She is red and has a bobtail, (the horse I mean,) and a white stripe in her face, and is a good driver; she has got blue eyes and a dimple in her chin, (I mean the baby now,) and just the prettiest mouth that ever opened to receive pap; and judging from her teeth I should think she was about six years old, (I mean the horse now.) She is sound smooth and kind, (I mean the horse or baby either now,) and the doctor says she is the fairest he ever saw without any exception. (He means the baby.) I got twenty-five dollars to boot, (not on the baby, though,) for in its case the boot was on the other foot, and two or three sizes larger, as near as I can find out.) I am going to harness the horse now, and go after mother; she was born last night twenty minutes past nine. (I hope you don't think I mean mother or the horse—I mean the baby.) She is as hearty as a pig; ate an egg, a biscuit, and drank three cups of tea for dinner. (I mean Abbie.) She is getting along nicely, and if she don't have any bad luck, she will get along firstrate. She is subject to disorders of the stomach, and they say that is a sign of colic. (I mean the baby.) I hope it is, for the nurse says colicy babies never die. She talks about her nose, as she takes snuff, (the nurse I mean now.)

There, I've been reading this over, and I see plainly that I ain't fit to write. The amount of it is, I am flustrated. I am a happy daddy, and that accounts for it; so you must excuse me this time. Sam.

RUTHERFORDTON, N. C.

SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1871.

Public Speaking at Marion.

We had intended to give our readers a synopsis of the remarks of the different speakers who addressed the people at McDowell Court last week, but a pressure of other duties prevents us from more than merely noticing a few points.

On Tuesday Mr. East Tennessee Carpetbagger Major Malone introduced Mr. East Tennessee Carpetbagger, Col. Cocke, to the citizens, whereupon he delivered himself of one of his soft soaping harangues, telling the people that he had come to North Carolina as a permanent citizen, (wonder if all carpetbaggers don't intend the same thing) and that he desired no office at the hands of the people; that they ought to vote for the call of a Convention; that the people were taxed so high that they could not stand it; that he wanted to get back to the old constitution of Nathaniel Macon, but did not tell the people present that that Constitution recognized slavery, and that under the old laws it was a misdemeanor to teach a colored man to read even the Bible; said that the present Constitution was gotten up by strangers and carpetbaggers, and was adopted by the people under duress, and by silencing the good men of the country, and that if the people failed to go the election and vote next August they would not deserve to be free; said that he was disfranchised and that the nigger was freer than he was; he then declared that he would vote against a constitution which might be adopted taking away from the colored man any of his rights, and wanted the voters present to signify their opinions on the subject, and after two trials some 12 or 15 voted that they would vote against any such constitution; but we could see that the colored men present did not put much confidence in this, as they, as well as every one else remembers, who heard them during the last campaign declaring that they were opposed to a convention,—and now seeing the change could put little confidence in anything that they might promise.

On Wednesday a public meeting was held, and resolutions adopted advising the people to vote to call a Convention. Messrs. Flemming and Grayson, the Senator and Representative from that county, addressed the people, but we did not have the pleasure of hearing their remarks.

Hon. Jas. M. Justice was then introduced by W. F. Craig, Esq., and in a talk of some half hour showed the people plainly that they were drifting towards a civil war, and that a Convention at this time would be a dangerous experiment; he went for the Democrats in his usual happy style, and we have seldom seen a set of men worse used up.

A. M. Erwin, Esqr., asked the indulgence of the citizens for a few moments, as he thought he would go into the skinning business on Esqr. Justice, but poor fellow! his knife appeared to be very dull—so much so that he made some of his Conservative friends ashamed, and we could not blame them, as he got off one of the weakest talks that we ever heard a "smart man" get off; he appeared to be working up hill all the time, and as a conservative remarked to us, "he seemed to be speaking for Buncombe." He said that the debt of N. C. was about $35,000,000, and that it had been placed upon us by carpetbaggers. Wonder if he ever read the Treasurer's Report? If he ever did he ought to have known that about $19,000,000 of this debt was made before the war. Said that the people ought to vote for the convention; that the convention was to repudiate the public debt. Wonder if he ever read the Constitution of the United States? If he did, he ought not to deceive the people. Said that the whole amount of the Public Debt had been stolen by carpetbaggers.

We thought he was too severe on Maj. Malone, as he was one who had been in the Legislature. He said several other funny and ridiculous things, so that we stopped taking notes.

Major, you ought to quit!

Perjurers at Heart.

To those who regularly read Democratic papers, we think, it would hardly be necessary to say that although they have sworn to support the Constitution and laws of the United States, yet from their abuse of the Constitution and the laws passed in accordance therewith, that if they do not violate that oath in fact, they most certainly do in feelings, and so plain is their feelings expressed by words that it is no wonder that we are constantly called upon to record violations of the laws. Our candid opinion is, that most of these violations of law are brought about by the teachings of the Democratic papers, and the leaders of the party. But talk to these men and they will tell you that they are loyal to the Government, and are in favor of the enforcement of law, but listen to their speeches, or read their editorials and you will be convinced beyond a doubt that the press and leaders of the Democracy of the South are more hostile to the Government now than they were in 1861,—and as a sample of their denouncement of the laws, we copy below two articles from the Union Times, published at Union C. H., S. C., and we ask all candid, fair-minded men to consider whether or not they prove the truth of what we say. The first article, calls the law for the suppression of Ku Kluxing, "iniquitous," and would make the people believe that there was no use for such a law, and that it was only to protect rogues from being punished by the honest people of the South.

Yet, in the same issue of the paper, it has another article, showing that it is for the freedom of the ballot that such a law is necessary, as the Ku Klux are ordering and by threats and intimidation, compelling men elected to office to resign, or reap the vengeance of these cowardly villains, who prefer darkness for the commission of crimes which in daylight they would not dare to commit.

The Times says:

"We publish this week the iniquitous Force bill, passed at the close of the late session of Congress. This bill is more familiarly known as the Ku Klux bill, and although its provisions can apply to every State in the Union, any ordinary mind can discover that it was intended for the Southern States and South Carolina in particular. It is one of the results of the many delegations from the cowardly leaders of the Radical party of this State, who, a few weeks ago, swarmed at Washington and raised a howl of fear around the Capitol and in the ears of the President, and called for protection to their precious carcasses against the people of the State who are trying to stop them from stealing."

Now read this article, and look upon the two pictures:

"K. K. K.—125 disguised men rode into Winnsboro' on Saturday night, about 12 o'clock, with a bugler at their head, and served the following notice on the different State officers:

K. K. K.

HEADQUARTERS 44TH DIVISION,
General Orders, No. 105.

W. B. Peake, G. W. Barber, John McDowell, Alfred Moore, S. M. Smart, James Cook, Melton Dunlap and Henry Smith, you are each and severally ordered to forthwith resign the office you now hold.

II. Let one warning suffice; we repeat no orders.

III. The Sheriff, Treasurer and Auditor we trust, yet they must beware. We respect all good men; yet they must act in good faith. This is the first notice, and it shall be obeyed.

By order of Q. B. C.,
Commanding.

O. L., A. A. G."

dave schenck.

We learn that Judge Logan caused a rule to be entered against dave schenck—alias little dave skunk—at Dallas, N. C., on last Monday, to show cause why he should not be attacked for contempt, on account of the letter written by the said dave schenck—alias little dave skunk—to Frank Blair, assailing the character of His Honor. We suppose the Judge has acted properly in this matter, but at the same time we regret that he has thought proper to bring into notoriety little dave, but we suppose as the letter had been published in a respectable newspaper, this course was necessary.

United States Arrests.

Deputy U. S. Marshall, J. G. HESTER, of Raleigh, N. C., with a squad of U. S. Soldiers arrested T. F. Toms, W. L. Toms, Wm. Depriest, Hall Martin, D. B. Fortune, Olin Carson, Dawson Depriest, James Sweezy, S. P. Biggerstaff, R. B. Biggerstaff and A. W. Biggerstaff, on Thursday last. These men are a part of those charged with Ku Kluxing Mr. Aaron Biggerstaff, some four weeks since.

We learn that they will carried to Charlotte or Raleigh for trial.

We regret that the state of affairs in this county is such that men have to be arrested by the army of the United States, but the action of the Conservative party has brought it about, and we are sure the Government intends to protect the people in their rights.

These arrests are but a beginning and we shall not be surprised to see two hundred men arrested in less than twenty days, these men are known to the officers of the Government, and we are assured will be dealt with.

"In a Blaze."

Judge Merrimon says "the West is in a blaze for Convention," and all the Conservative papers take up the cry, and it is heralded forth that such is a fact. We deny it, and believe that the first Thursday in August will prove that we are correct, but how should Judge Merrimon know how the West is on the subject, if we are rightfully informed the Judge, when at Asheville, kept close to his quarters, as he remembered once when Judge, having to leave a certain little Town near the Black Mountain, rather hastily? We therefore think he is a poor witness as to the feeling of the people in the West.

Who is Judge Merrimon?

We would like to know who Judge Merrimon, the reporter of the feeling of the people of the West, to the Sentinel, is?

Wonder if he was the same A. S. Merrimon that was once in the recruiting business for a certain George Washington Kirk, in 1864?

Can the daddy of the Kuklux give us any information in regard to the matter?

INFANTICIDE.—A Coroner's inquest was held last Wednesday in this village, over a child found in a well on the premises of W. L. Mitchell, near where Mr. G. W. Suttle formerly lived. The verdict of the Jury was, that the child came to its death by violence, at the hands of Jane Howell and Francis Howell, colored. The parties charged with committing the crime were committed to Jail, to await the action of the Courts in the matter.

Again we say old Rutherford County is coming to a bad state of affairs. Murder, Arson, Infanticide, Larceny, Kukluxing, and almost every crime known to the laws are being committed. When will times get better?

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

The act of Congress, entitled "An act to enforce the provisions of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and for other purposes," approved April 20, A. D. 1871, being a law of extraordinary public importance, I consider it my duty to issue this my proclamation calling the attention of the people of the United States thereto; enjoining upon all good citizens, and especially upon all public officers, to be zealous in the enforcement thereof, and warning all persons to abstain from committing any of the acts thereby prohibited.

This law of Congress applies to all parts of the United States, and will be enforced everywhere, to the extent of the powers vested in the Executive. But inasmuch as the necessity therefor is well known to have been caused chiefly by persistent violations of the rights of citizens of the United States, by combinations of lawless and disaffected persons in certain localities lately the theater of insurrection and military conflict, I do particularly exhort the people of those parts of the country to suppress all such combinations by their own voluntary efforts through the agency of local laws, and to maintain the rights of all citizens of the United States, and to secure to all such citizens the equal protection of the laws.

Fully sensible of the responsibility imposed upon the Executive by the act of Congress to which public attention is now called, and reluctant to call into exercise any of the extraordinary powers thereby conferred upon me, except in cases of imperative necessity, I do, nevertheless, deem it my duty to make known that I will not hesitate to exhaust the powers thus vested in the Executive, whenever and wherever it shall become necessary to do so for the purpose of securing to all citizens of the United States the peaceful enjoyment of the rights guaranteed to them by the Constitution and laws.

It is my earnest wish that peace and cheerful obedience to law may prevail throughout the land, and that all traces of our late unhappy civil strife may be speedily removed. These ends can be easily reached by acquiescence in the result of the conflict, now written in our Constitution, and by the due and proper enforcement of equal, just, and impartial laws in every part of our country.

The failure of local communities to furnish such means for the attainment of results so earnestly desired imposes upon the national Government the duty of putting forth all its energies for the protection of its citizens of every race and color, and for the restoration of peace and order throughout the entire country.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this third day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the ninety-fifth.

HAMILTON FISH,

SPECIAL NOTICES.

An Enemy to Health and Happiness

Dyspepsia not only destroys health, but it banishes happiness from the family. A Dyspeptic is not only unhappy himself, but he makes all around him unhappy. Dr. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS is a certain remedy for it.

Don't Suffer your hair to fall off when a bottle or two of Nature's Hair Restorative will check it. Splendidly perfumed and as clear as crystal. All wide awake druggists sell it. See advertisement.

Bear in Mind.

When disease has undermined the health, and the physical system has become prostrated a stimulant that will not only strengthen, but remove the cause, should be immediately resorted to. Mental distress is also a fruitful source of the breaking down of the constitution, and the ravages of this enemy to health are truly alarming. For all such maladies Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have been found unsurpassed. By acting directly upon the digestive organs, they remove the heavy, disagreeable feeling after eating, so often complained of by persons of a delicate temperament. As soon as digestion is restored, the patient finds his strength increasing, and his general health improved.

Thousands of persons certify that it may be relied on in all cases of weakness or nervous debility attendant upon sedentary habits. The generality of Bitters are so disagreeable to the taste that they are objectionable to a weak stomach. This is not the case with Hostetter's Bitters, which will be found mild and extremely pleasant. Balsamic plants, barks and roots contribute their restorative juices to render it soothing and strengthening. Its basis is the only pure stimulant which has ever been produced, containing no fusel oil, or any other delerious element. The most careful and skilful chemits have analyzed the Bitters, and pronounce them harmless. This is scientific testimony of the hundreds of thousends who have experienced the preventive and curative effects of the Great Vegetable Tonic and Alterative of modern times is still more conclusive. In Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Billiousnes, Nervous Complaints, Chronic Complaints and general debility it is as nearly infallible as anything in this fallible world can be. apr.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch-wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these time-keepers.

More than 500,000 of these watches are now speaking for themselves in the pockets of the people—a proof and a guarantee of their superiority over all others.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enables them to produce watches at a price which renders competition futile, and these who buy any other watch merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary.

These time-pieces combine every improvement that a long experience has proved of real practical use. Having had the refusal of nearly every invention in watch-making originating in this country or in Europe, only those were finally adopted which severe testing by the most skilful artisans in our works, and long use on the part of the public, demonstrated to be essential to correct and enduring time-keeping.

Among the many improvements we would particularize:

The invention and use of a centre-pinion of peculiar construction, to prevent damage to the train by the breakage of main-springs, is original with the American Watch Company, who, having had the refusal of all other contrivances, adopted Fogg's patent pinion as being the best and faultless

Hardened and tempered hair-springs, now universally admitted by Watchmakers to be the best, are used in all grades of Waltham Watches.

All Waltham Watches have dust-proof caps, protecting the movement from dust, and lessening the necessity of the frequent cleaning necessary in other watches.

Our new patent stem-winder, or keyless watch is already a decided success, and a great improvement on any stem-winding watch in the American market, and by far the cheapest watch of its quality now offered to the public. To those living in portions of the United States where watchmakers do not abound, watches with the above mentioned improvements which tend to ensure accuracy, cleanliness, durability and convenience, must prove invaluable.

The trademarks of the various styles made by the Company are as follows:

American Watch Co., Waltham, Mass.
Am'n Watch Co., Waltham, Mass.
American Watch Co., Crescent St., Waltham, Mass.
Appleton, Tracy & Co., Waltham, Mass.
American Watch Co., Adams St., Waltham, Mass.
Waltham Watch Co., Waltham, Mass.
P. S. Bartlett, Waltham, Mass.
Wm. Ellery, Waltham, Mass.
Home Watch Co., Boston, Mass.

Examine the spelling of these names carefully before buying. Any variation even of a single letter, indicates a counterfeit.

For sale by all leading jewelers. No watches retailed by the Company.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Mr. Editor:

My neighbor, Mr. A., is a Democrat; he is generally regarded as a high-toned Christian gentleman; he says Kukluxism is wrong, and should be stopped. Of course, nothing else could be expected of a man of Mr. A's standing. While he takes a warm interest in political matters, he says he is willing for every one to enjoy his own political opinions. It is perfectly ridiculous to suppose that Mr. A. would countenance a set of political desperadoes, who go about at night and cowardly and brutally whip and abuse those who differ with them in opinion. He says he won't, and his word is enough—always has been; being of the same opinon as Mr. A., in regard to the K. K., of course we can talk confidently with him in this matter. We were present when Mr. A. read of a K. K. outrage in a certain locality.

"I do wish," said he, "that a stop could be put to this."

Great pity," said I.

"Do you know the parties whipped?" he asked.

"I do not."

"Of course they are low down characters."

"I didn't reply 'of course,' for the reason that I didn't know.

Not very long since, a brutal attack was made upon Mr. B., with whom Mr. A. was acquainted."

"I do wish," said Mr. A., "a stop could be put to this."

"Great pity," said I.

"B. is a man of very bad character." said he.

"In what respect," I asked.

"Well—well—of course he is."

"But in what respect, Mr. A?"

"Why don't C. and D., his neighbors, say that he is a very bad man?"

"But in what respect, Mr. A., does C. and D. give B. a bad character?"

"Well—well—I never inquired particularly."

"What are C. and D's politics?" I inquired.

"Good Democrats, and true Southern men."

"What is B's politics?"

"A bitter Radical,—a party that no honest man will affiliate with."

"But in what respect, Mr. A., is B. dishonest?"

"Your perception is very dull," replied he, a little excited.

"I confess it is, so please explain to me what act of B. has established for him a bad character.

"Wasn't he whipped by the K. K.?" he asked, indignantly, and left me, and I felt a little mortified that my perception was so dull, and that I could'nt see the point sooner.

Now, Mr. Editor, I do think you do a little wrong when you say that Democrats countenance and encourage the K. K., for I am sure there are many who oppose them fully as much as Mr. A. PHILIP PHILIKINS.

The Postscript to Philip Philikins' communication will appear in our next, and we hope to hear from him often. Can't he give us a letter each week?

A man was sent for ten years to prison in Massachusetts for burning a school house. Here in the South he would be sent to the Legislature for burning the school house and church of the colored people and made a "South Commander," of "the white brotherhood."—Goldsboro News.

☞ The Raleigh Sentinel wants troops sent to N. C. O, Josier!

The Harness, so Far as Heard From.

A poet says: "Oh! she was fair, but sorrow came and left his Traces there." What has become of the rest of the harness, the poet don't state.—Erie Dispatch.

Oh, no! Further down the hill of poetry it says: "Come wi' me my lassie, and I'll take the to my Hame." The balance of the harness still missing.—La Crosse Democrat.

You are mistaken about that. The same poet, speaking of the same young lady, says: "And all the Lines that sorrow had left faded out in joy." The rest of the harness is still missing.—Exchange.

No! still another piece has turned up, for further on the muse informs us that "Loving hands and simple flowers had decked her for the Bridal." Nothing has yet transpired as to the rest of the harness.—York Republican.

All a mistake, for had not Walter said: "Give me but what this Belt hath bound. Take all the rest the sun goes round." Don't be discouraged, friends, the rest of the harness is bound to come. State Journal.

Of course it is, for hath not the poet said: "When Greek meets Greek, then comes the Tug of War." Pass along the balance.—Toledo Blade.

No more, no more. We'll give you only what Gratiano proposed for Shylock: "A Halter gratis; nothing else, for God's sake."—Chicago Republican.

Yes, one more. Take this good council for the giver's sake: "Like Jehu drive, but don't the Breeching break.—Toledo Commercial.

Still another: "Oh, Brutus, have you not love enough to bear with me, when the rash Cholor that my mother gave, makes me forgetful?" Persevere, friends the balance can yet be found.—Cleveland Leader.

Yes, Hudibras finds an important item. Speaking of the horseman:

"That he had almost tumbled over,
With his own weight, but did recover,
But laying hold of tail and mane,
Which on he used instead of Rein."

Typos! hurry up the back-band crupper, hame strap.—Salem Republican.

Let those who desire the balance of the harness find where Macbeth died, and you will get it all, for we think he promised "to die with the harness on his back."

From the Telegram.

A Card from Governor Caldwell.

Messrs. Editors' Telegram:

SIRS:—An article in your paper of to-day entitled "Inexcusable," on the subject of the late Governor Manly's funeral, is calculated, if not intended, to place me in a false position before the people of the State. The complaint is that the flag on the Capitol was not lowered at half-mast in respect to the memory of the Ex-Governor and distinguished son of North Carolina, by his successor, &c., &c.

Almost any reader would infer from this article that the failure to place the flag at half-mast was attributable to me, and that it evidenced a want of respect on my part to the memory of the distinguished dead. Now, Messrs. Editors, you knew, or ought to have known, that the present General Assembly passed an act taking the control of the Capitol, (except the Executive room), the Capitol grounds and all the public buildings (except the Executive Mansion), and public lots from the Governor, and placing the same in the hands of Mr. McGowan, the Keeper of the Capitol, who, in political faith, agrees with the majority of the General Assembly that passed the law. I had no more authority to give orders with regard to the flag o.. the Capitol in Raleigh than I have to command a fleet on the high seas. Why, sirs, I am not allowed, under the Act above referred to, to employ a servant to make a fire in the Executive office, or to bring a bucket of water without first consulting Mr. McGowan and obtaining his permission to do so. I suppose it was mere inadvertence on the part of Mr. McGowan that the flag was not lowered and I have no idea that he intended any disrespect to Gov. Manly or any of his friends.

Very respectfully,
TOD R. CALDWELL.

There is a moral taught by the following conversation which needs to be learned by many fathers. Said a little four-year-old: "Mother, father won't be in heaven with us, will he?" "Why not, my child?" "Because he can't leave the store."

PROSPECTUS FOR 1871.
FOURTH YEAR.

Size of Page Changed and Attractions Increased.

THE ALDINE:
An Illustrated Monthly Journal of 16 Pages, claimed to be the handsomest Paper in the World.

"Give my love to the artist workmen of The Aldine who are striving to make their profession worthy of admiration for beauty, as it has always been for usefulness."—Henry Ward Beecher.

The object of The Aldine is to furnish a medium which shall be a fit exponent of progress, and of the beautiful in Printing and the kindred arts. The latest and most improved machinery, and the very highest order of mechanical and artistic talent shall be taxed to the utmost to produce a sheet—as nearly as possible—perfect in typography and illustration. While it is intended that the appearance shall be unexceptionable, no pains will be spared to keep the literary matter, original and selected, equal to the best.

The unequaled excellence of the Wood-Cut Illustrations published in the pages of The Aldine has elicited the commendation of the European as well as the American press, and has been hailed as the commencement of a new era in the history of Illustrated Journalism.

During the ensuing year the publishers will present to the patrons of The Aldine, the rarest specimens from the pencils and gravers of the foremost artists of the world; and, while the illustrations may be counted by scores, the volume shall contain nothing that is not of permanent value as a work of art.

The experience of the past year demonstrates that there are many persons throughout the country whose cultivated taste in matters literary and artistic lead them to a peculiar appreciation of this enterprise, and the publishers appeal to that class for the active sympathy and financial support so necessary to success, and to a full realization of the proposed scope and usefulness of The Aldine. Let each well-wisher send in at least one subscription, and influence others to do likewise.

Attention

Of all. We are now making extensive purchases, which, owing to the very large increase in our business—during 1869, (the tax returns will show $27,000.00 ahead of any house in the City, and figures are stubborn facts,) enables us to buy with impunity as to quantity, and from first hand—namely, Manufacturers, Importers and Commission Houses, thereby, saving from 10 to 25 per cent. over smaller buyers—and it is this andvantage that gives us the lead in this market.

Our Stock

Will be completed, or nearly so, by the 10th of March, and will embrace all classes of Goods necessary, either for WHOLESALE or RETAIL, to the inspection of which we invite not only those coming of this Market to purchase, also, those on their way to otherplaces for that purpose.

We offer no bait's, business will be conducted, in the future, as in the past, viz:

Honorable Competition against Imposition

Dry Goods Department

Clotheing Department.

Boots and Shoes.

Will be bought mostly from manufacturers, in Boston and elsewhere, and we claim to be able to compete with all.

Hats.

Will be purchased at the BROOKLYN AUCTIONS and of NEWARK MANUFACTURERS.

Hardware.

Especially Table and Pocket Cutlery, we buy for Gold, from the Importers.

Groceries--there comes the rub.

That line of Goods we buy quantities second to no House in this City, (their assertion to the contrary, notwithstanding) and at as low figures as a dollar, consisting of 100 cents, can buy. In short, come and look at our stock, ascertain our prices, and judge for yourselves.

Millinery Department.

Is complete as usual, and is presided over by Miss BETSY WILLIAMS, who is widely known for her superior taste in that line.

Pool vs. Blair.

So many inquiries have been made with reference to the reply of Senator Pool to Senator Blair that we publish it as reported in the Congressional Globe:

Mr. Schurz. I understand now that the Senator from North Carolina wishes to make some remarks in response to his colleague, and I yield to him with that understanding.

Mr. Pool. Mr. President, the Senator from Missouri [Mr. Blair] has referred to a statement of R. C. Badger. Mr. Badger is mistaken in most of the points referred to in his testimony by the Senator from Missouri. There were the statements of two other witnesses taken at the same time, and I presume the Senator from Missouri was not aware of the fact, or else he would not have done me the injustice of suppressing the truth, for both of those witnesses put a different face upon the whole affair. I say, sir, upon that point that I never advised or heard any one advise the arrest of a single individual in North Carolina by name; nor did I ever know, until after I heard of the arrests being made, that any particular man was thought of as a person proper to be arrested. I will state that I never advised violence of any sort toward any man, and that I never advised or heard of a resort to military tribunals for trial until long afterward.

The Senator from Missouri owes to the Ku Klux of the South the efforts which he has made during this discussion. In 1868 the Senator wrote what was known as the Brodhead letter, in which he advises the dispersing of the governments of the South by force, and allowing the "white people" to form their own governments. Upon that letter the Ku Klux organization was based. They are the Senator's friends; they are operating in his behalf now with a hope of elevating him to a position where in the next Congress he can occupy your chair, sir. They are therefore entitled to the efforts which he has made here.

I could not expect less of the Senator from Missouri than I have received. I understood him to say, in the first speech which he made after he became a member of this body, that those Senators who voted for the reconstruction measures of Congress knew that they were unconstitutional when they voted for them. That, if I am not mistaken, was the charge the Senator made.

Mr. Blair. That was my opinion, and that is what Thad. Stevens said, too.

Mr. Pool. Then the Senator charges two thirds of this body with being guilty of perjury——

Mr. Blair. I did not charge them with that.

Mr. Pool. When he says they swore to support the Constitution of the United States and knowingly violated it; if that be not the charge I do not know how the charge could be made.

Mr. Blair. You can make it argumentatively; but I did not make it in any unparliamentary sense.

Mr. Pool. Then the Senator is in the habit of using language so loosely that I could expect little better than the use of language in the same style with regard to North Carolina affairs and myself.

But, sir, I have been surprised to find the Senator the recipient of letters and information from any sources that choose to obtrude their slanders upon this Senate. I have been still more surprised that the Senator should so far forget the decorum and propriety of a legislative body as to allow himself to be made the medium through which they could sift their slanders over the Senate Chamber.

But, sir, I can say to the Senator that if I would allow myself to play his part I might tell him of some things that were said by these very men whom he is now defending, the State of North Carolina, in regard to himself, just after the war closed. The Senator was in command of a division of the United States troops that passed through my State and the adjoining State, and the depredations committed by that command have been a word of reproach with North Carolinians from that time to this. If I could suffer myself to follow the Senator I might tell him it was charged that he occupied an elegant mansion from which the owners had been driven, in the town of Cheraw, in South Carolina, with cellars stocked with wines, which were disturbed; and the ornaments in the parlors carried away, and that he afterward boasted that he dispensed the hospitalities of the mansion in a style that would have put to blush the highest of southern chivalry.

I know, sir, that all men are liable to be slandered, and the Senator may see what could be said of himself if such a course could be pursued with propriety on this floor as that which he has pursued.

I might further ask if he knew that his command outraged the venerable Episcopal bishop of North Carolina by robbing him and stripping him. It was charged upon the Senator's command.

I might tell the Senator what was said with regard to the silver plate displayed upon the table and in the house of a certain gentleman in the city of Raleigh, a story which was rife upon the streets to the Senator's disparagement about that time. I might more particularly tell him in regard to a certain gentleman by the name of O. G. Parsley, whose fine horses were taken from his stables. And I might perhaps do the Senator a kindness if I should ask him whether he did not receive in the city of Washington from Mr. Parsley a letter asking him to return the horses which were then found in his possession. Perhaps the Senator might answer if he chose.

Mr. Blair. I received no such letter, sir.

Mr. Pool. Mr. Parsley has published that he wrote such a one, and that the horses were found in this city to the Senator's carriage; but Mr. Parsley may not tell the truth. I did not follow the Senator's example in suffering those things to be sent me, as everybody seems to send information of a slanderous character to him; nor did I purpose to allow myself to be made the sieve through which such filth should be sifted over the Senate Chamber.

Mr. President, I dislike to engage in these personal attacks or in these personal vindications. The floor of the American Senate is not the place for such things. I am not a very old Senator in this body, but it seems to me that the decorum and propriety of the place should have admonished the Senator that his conduct was not such as it ought to have been, in reading letters from anonymous persons and suffering his associates upon this floor to be attacked by irresponsible parties, himself the medium through which the attacks are made.

Mr. Blair. What letter did I read that was anonymous attacking anybody on this floor?

Mr. Pool. If I used the word "anonymous," I take it back; I mean parties whose character has not been substantiated before this body.

Mr. Blair. From whom did I read such a letter?

Mr. Pool. The Senator read from a Cincinnati paper. I think that was anonymous too.

Mr. Blair. That letter was from a Republican newspaper, and was avouched by Mr. Biggs, of Delaware.

Mr. Pool. Who is Mr. Briggs, of Delaware?

Mr. Blair. A member of the other House.

Mr. Pool. Mr. Biggs, of Delaware, did not say that that letter was written by any particular individual, or that it contained the truth.

Mr. Blair. He said it was written by the correspondent of the paper.

Mr. Pool. Ah! But that correspondent's name is unknown, and therefore it is anonymous.

Mr. President, the Senator says that if this investigation shall go on, he thinks it will redound greatly to the interest of his party and to the perfect discomfiture of the Radical party by making truthful many of the charges that he has made. If the Senator is so confident of that, I should like to know why he desires to be investigation to be discontinued. If he does not fear that his friends will be still further exposed, who is he not in favor of letting the investigation go on? I understand the Senator to be opposed to proceeding with it.

Mr. Blair. The Senator is mistaken. I did not vote for the committee of investigation, because I believed that this government had no right to go into this investigation and that it had no right to invade the States for this purpose; but since it is voted, I am free to say that I am very glad of it.

Mr. Pool. Did not the Senator say, since the investigation progressed to a very considerable extent, that he hoped it would be continued no further?

Mr. Blair. I did not.

Mr. Pool. I understood the Senator to say so, but he denies it now.

Mr. Blair. I never said so, whether you understood it or not.

Mr. Pool. Well, Mr. President, I think the Senator did say so. Let us see whether he did or not. The Senator says he did not. I have the minority report before me, and on the first page the resolution of the Senate is referred to an given in full raising this investigating committee. On page 3 of the minority report I find the following language:

"The experiment proposed by the resolution has thus far been made upon a single State of the Union—North Carolina—shall it be continued as to her and the other States?

That is signed by the Senator from Missouri. Does the Senator now say that he did not say it?

Mr. Blair. I did not write that part of the report, and that may have escaped me at the time. My colleague on the committee is here. I understood we were dissenting from the policy of entering upon this investigation by the government hf the United States. That expression may have escaped me at the time.

Mr. Pool. Did the Senator not read that report?

Mr. Blair. I did; but I have given the Senator the explanation.

Mr. Pool. Well, sir, it may have escaped the Senator, but I understood the Senator to have said it because he signed the report; but when I stated a moment ago that he did not. Now he explains that it was an oversight. So he takes it all back, and I have no further remarks to make upon the continuation of the investigation.

Mining Under the Sea.

There is a vast copper mine in England where shafts extend many hundred yards under the sea. The moaning of the waves as they dash against the rocks is forever sounding in those gloomy aisles. When the storms come, the sound of the waters become so terrific that even the boldest miners cannot stay below, but leave their work and come out upon the earth. Overhead are masses of bright copper streaming through the gallery in all directions, traversed by a net-work of thin red veins of iron, and over all the salt water drips down from tiny crevices in the rock. Immense wealth of metal is contained in these roofs, but no miner dares to give it another stroke with the pickax. Already there has been one day's work too much upon it, as a huge wedge of wood driven into the rock bears witness. The wedge is all that keeps the sea from bursting in upon them. Yet there are three tiers of galleries where men work day by day, not knowing but at some fatal hour the flood may be upon them, rendering all escape as hopeless as it was in the days of Noah. The awe-stricken visitor hurries away from the scene with a heart appalled in view of the hourly danger.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics" "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They invigorate the stomach, and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Copious Discharges of Urine, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms which are the offsprings of Dyspepsia, are cured by these Bitters.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French, and Spanish.

MADAME DELACHAMPS

Alone in a Mountain Gorge

Snugly ensconsed amid the wilds of one of the Middle States, lived Madame Delachamps, many years ago, with no known protector, save a faithful dog that ever stood beside her to defend in time of need. Her small, moss-covered cabin, wrapped with wild-rose and honeysuckle, appeared hid away by a cluster of undergrowth, and closely environed on the north and east by a deep, craggy ravine that led away back to the mountain gorge.

Here, sniffing the ambient air, wafted from nature's green sward clinging to the mountain side, bathing her brow in early morn's gentel dewdrop, she lived solitary and alone for many long years. The catamount's unearthly midnight yell, and the wolf's doleful howl, frequently aroused her from pleasent midnight slumbers.

Now and then she would emerge from her unknown home and mingle with the inhabitants around about for one or two months at a time. She was eccentric in her acts and all viewed her as a living curiosity.

While from home, she apparently had but one object, and that was the relief of her afflicted sex. Under a belt on her side could be seen an old-fashioned drik of considerable size, carried for her own protection, while stramped across her shoulder was suspended a curious sack made from the

Skins of Rabbits and Raccoons

Arranged in alternate strips. This bag contained some old parchment, curious relics, a few light garments, and a smaller sack containing a coarse powder made from certain roots known only to herself, the secret of which she clung to as with the tenacity death. She sallied forth from he wild mountain home, to act the Good Samaritan, with this unknown vegetable power which she claimed possessed a wonderful power over all Diseases incident to the female sex. She termed it "womb physic," with which she proposed to cure all affections and derangements of that organ, and kindred complaints free of charge. With such singular magic did she relieve all who applied, that within a few years her name and fame became known far and wide, and hundreds of suffering females applied for relief and returned to their homes healthy and happy. Many were anxious to know her great secret, and large sums of money were offered if she would divulge it—but she stubbornly refused.

During her solitary life, she became intimate with only one woman, a noted mid wife some miles distant, to whom she promised to

Divulge the Secret

Before dying. In a few years, as the sombre shades of night began to close around her tottering frame, she imparted this great secret to this friend.

* * * * * *

She too gained quite a reputation for relieving the suffering of her sex, and a range it may appear—she scarcely ever failed to cure those old chronic female complaints that had resisted all ordinary modes of treatment. Many years ago, the writer of this, while engaged in the Practice of Medicine, by a little strategy, succeeded in procuring the secret of this wonderful vegetable Regulator, which had never been known to the Medical Profession.

He gave it a fair impartial trial in the treatment of various forms and stages of female complaints with such decided satisfaction, that in 1860 he called public attention to its virtues in

"Gross' Medico Chirurgical Review."

Combined with other known vegetable Tonics, having great power over the uterine organs; wit Black Root to act upon the Liver and Bowels, and Soluble Citrate of Iron to correct the blood, he has formed a wonderful combination for the cure of all Female Complaints, considering it the only Female Regulator known, and now offers this valuable compound to the afflicted female, under the name of English Female Bitters.

The Medical Profession at large, have long felt the need of just such a medicine, consequently it is not strange that they so eagerly prescribe and recommend these Bitters to their female patients.

If you could see the pile of smiling approvals and encomiums from physicians and the public who have cured their wives, their daughters and their friends, by the use of these Bitters, no sickly female would hesitate to use them. This Female Regulator is adapted for old, young, married or single females who acute or chronic forms of Uterine derangements. They cure painful, suppressed, scanty, profuse or irregular Menstruation, chlorosis or Green Sickness, Albus or Whites, Hysterics, Falling of the Womb, Ulceration and Irritability of the Womb, pain in the side back or loins, sick Headache, palpitation or fluttering of the Heart, hurried Breathing, swimming of the Head, cold Feet and Hands, loss of Appetite, Indigestion, Wakefulness, Barrenness, physical Prostration ect., ect. Many of these are relieved by the use of only one bottle.

The Liver and Stomache

Are thoroughly aroused and restored to a healthy action, by the use of these Bitters. Its peculiar Iron and Vegetable combination, places it far ahead of any similar preparation before the public.

Females, later confinement and convalescents from any debilitating complaint, who remain weak and feeble, with little or no appetite, are at once aroused and strengthened by their use. As a Family Tonic for men, woman and children, it has no equal. One tablespoonful contains more medical properties, than one bottle of any of the common and pleasant "dilute alcohol" bitters, to be found all over the country. When the manufactures of the common beverages of the day say they cure all diseases, they well know they are "pulling the wool" over your eyes, and laugh at your stupidity in being so easily humbugged whenever the article smacks of whisky. If you really desire a valuable Iron and Vegetable Tonic for yourself and family, one bottle of E. F. B. will last longer and do more good than one dozen of the ordinary "grog shop" bitters, as one tablespoonful in water, is sufficient for a whole family. As

A Female Regulator,

It has no equal on this continent, acting powerfully and promtly in all cases, were no organic lesion exists. It is just the medicine for young girls, who have some difficulty in retaining it bloom on the cheeks, and who do not feel exactly right. For the mother at the "change of life," it soothes and quiets until the critical period is passed, as sweetly as if enjoying the brightest beams of opal ray, flitting thorugh the air of oriental climes. The medicine is sold at the low price of $1,50 per Bottle, or six for $8,00, and can be had of all Druggists and Merchants throughout the Country, Address
